

CASE STUDY

DR SCOTT ORMAN
(Australia)

Course:

Managing Medical & Obstetric
Emergencies & Trauma

Date of course: 18 – 19 November 2019

For me mMOET reinforced the leadership and clinical skills required to manage obstetric medical emergencies and trauma, which more often than not are incredibly tense situations. This course gave me great insights and provided a well-tested structured approach.

With more than 20 complex simulated scenarios there was ample opportunity for participants to practice our skills and adopt new processes while in a safe environment.

The systematic approach was well taught with clear explanations and allowed us all to actively engage on this two-day course, which covered a plethora of obstetric emergencies including multiple scenarios which were directly relevant to the emergency department setting. I have no hesitation in recommending the mMOET course to emergency medicine practitioners.

With more than 20 complex simulated scenarios there was ample opportunity for participants to practice our skills and adopt new processes while in a safe environment.

